

Postgraduate Opportunities in Slavonic Studies at the University of Cambridge

The Department of Slavonic Studies at the University of Cambridge offers innovative graduate teaching at the MPhil and PhD levels in the advanced study of Poland, Russia and Ukraine, with an emphasis on cultural history from the Middle Ages to the present day. Our graduates have a noted record of achievement in scholarship and consistent success in securing posts at Europe's best universities.

The intellectual vitality of the Department of Slavonic Studies is particularly evident in the fields of Pre-Modern East Slavic culture; Polish, Russian and Ukrainian Literatures of the 19th and 20th centuries; Slavonic Linguistics; Nationalism Studies; Film and Visual Culture; Memory Studies; and Sensory History. It is home to a dynamic annual programme of public lectures, research seminars, conferences and exhibitions.

For more information: www.mml.cam.ac.uk/slavonic/

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE

Department of Slavonic Studies

MML
Faculty of Modern & Medieval Languages